

Celebrating Culture, Inclusion, and Kartini's Legacy at Makarim & Taira S.

Last week at Makarim & Taira S., we celebrated Kartini Day and Halal Bihalal in style by encouraging everyone to wear traditional attire—from kebaya and batik to regional costumes from across Indonesia. It was a joyful celebration of Kartini's legacy and a tribute to our nation's rich cultural heritage.

We were especially happy to have our interns from POTADS (Persatuan Orang Tua Anak Down Sindrom) join the festivities and share in the spirit of inclusivity.

To close the day, we crowned three best-dressed winners for both men and women—but truthfully, everyone looked amazing!
